Theatres
Trust

'Theatres are about people, communities and places, not just bricks and mortar.'

Jon Morgan

Theatres Trust Director

The Theatres Trust is the national advisory public body for theatres. We believe that current and future generations should have access to good quality theatres where they can be inspired by and enjoy live performance.

We promote great theatre buildings by advising, funding and campaigning on behalf of theatres across the UK. Each year more than 350 theatres and hundreds of community groups and industry professionals benefit from the Theatres Trust's support.

We believe it's not just about buildings, it's about people.

Throughout the UK people come to the theatre to see a live performance, to visit with their school, to participate in a community group or simply to socialise.

Theatres are one of the few buildings left in communities where people can come together whatever their age, ethnicity or class. A place where relationships are built, where people can connect, understand what it means to be human and so it improves society for everyone.

Supporting the Theatres Trust means you are helping us to make sure theatres are at the heart of all communities.

So much more work must be done

The Theatres Trust is a small charity with a national reach and we punch well above our weight. However, we know there is more vital work to be done and we must respond to this demand.

Theatres across the UK continue to close or be under threat of imminent closure or demolition. We must strengthen and develop our work with the theatres on our Theatres at Risk register before these extraordinary buildings and all they do for their communities are lost forever.

Our grants programmes provide essential funding for capital works and urgent repairs, but are oversubscribed by 3 to 1. We need to increase funding to support this demand.

We need your help to make this work happen.

'Theatres are imperative to our culture and play a big part in bringing local communities together.'

Theatres Trust Patron Scheme

Our Patron Scheme will provide a vital source of income to enable us to continue our existing work and support us in the additional crucial work that we know must take place to ensure that all generations have access to great theatre buildings.

At each level of support there are different ways to engage with the Theatres Trust and strengthen your involvement. We hope you will join us and enjoy a close relationship with the Theatres Trust as we realise our ambitions together.
